

DR. CHI'S SEMINAR

Achieving Optimal Health through Physical Markers and Herbs

March 10-11, 2018 | Anaheim, California

SEMINAR DESCRIPTION

Combining a method of diagnosis and solutions, this seminar will enhance practitioners' knowledge and diagnostic skills in order to provide comprehensive patient care. Practitioners will be introduced to a noninvasive diagnostic technique that can be used singly or in conjunction with other conventional diagnostic tools or methods. Based on a combination of Eastern and Western methodologies, this technique involves the early manifestations of health issues through physical markers on the fingernails, tongue and other parts of the body. These markers are used to detect chronic ailments early and determine specific clinical markers that can be tested to confirm diagnosis and monitor patient progress. Furthering the practitioners' knowledge, this seminar will also explore natural and integrative solutions for their patients through different herbs and botanicals that can be incorporated as dietary supplements to help promote health and minimize physiological dysfunctions and complications.
